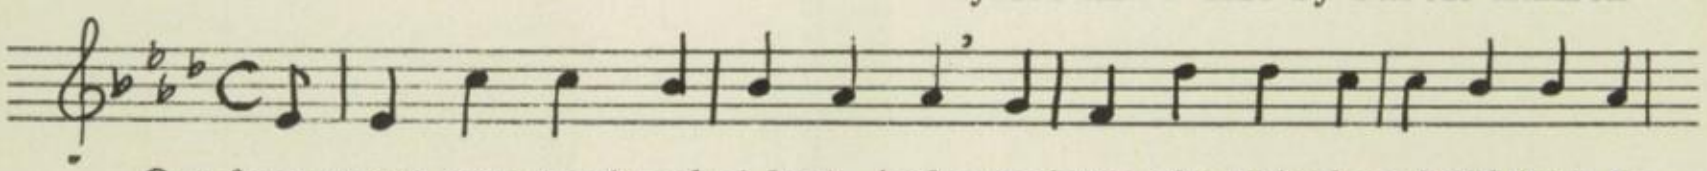
CLASS SONG

Lyrics and Music by Carole Laxson



Our four years now must end at last, And mem'ries cherished we hold fast, In fresh, young days so care-free then, we crossed this threshold o'er. For learning came and with it light of truth to face the future bright, Here friendships, faith, and kindness grew to fill our lives with joy.

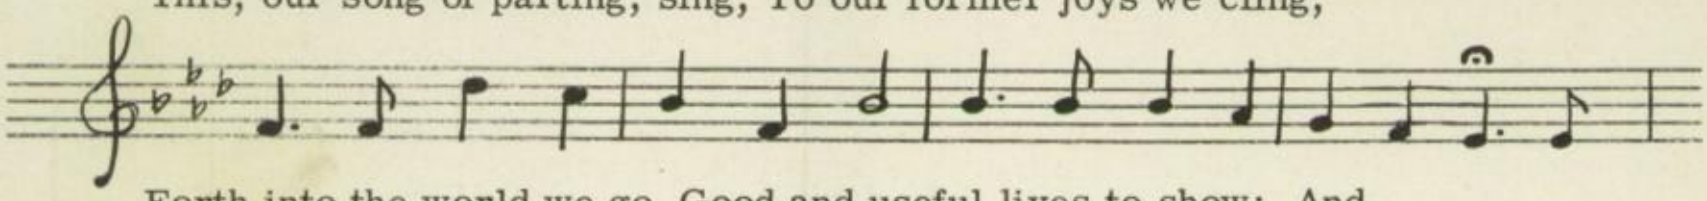
This, our song of parting, sing, To our former joys we cling,



Forth into the world we go, Good and useful lives to show; And this our Amesbury High School dear whose pure unfading beam so clear, Shall guide us in our future's way, Forever now we part.

CLASS WILL

We, the Class of 1958, being of debatable, unsound mind and body, do hereby proclaim this to be our first, last, and only will and testament.

Ralph DiVito leaves his marked deck to Louis Bunnell in hope that Louis will be as lucky with it as he was.

Judy Barlow leaves French movies to all Frenchmen.

Dudley Sargent leaves his parking space to whoever can fit into it.

Brenda Hall leaves her walk to Lorraine Kent, whether she needs it or not.

Nancy Fay does not leave Bruce Pike.

Stanley Andrews and Carl Orkney leave their legends of Berlin to Ray Bolduc.

Peter Lamb leaves Glenn Coffin his ability to avoid Mr. Roy while smoking.

Pauline LaPlante leaves her quiet ways to Pat Stromquist.

Laura Mae Temple leaves a night pass to Salisbury Reservation to Sandy Littlefield.

Barbara Davidson and Pat Donahue leave their great laboratory skill to Robert Sansfacon.

Johnny Brown leaves his Lilt home permanent set to Richard Cook.

To David Dumas, Skip Watkins leaves his ability to get along with Miss Flynn.

Frances Sullivan leaves a book of her own special driving rules to the Juniors taking Drivers Education next year.

Ann Young leaves her giggle to Wayne Vedrani.

Wayne Losano finally makes public his famous list of the "terrible twelve girls".

Arthur Bourgeois leaves to Arthur Fortin his taste in music.

Brenda George leaves her motorcycle jacket to Beverly Christenson.

Bill Anderson leaves to Bill Palmer a list of tall stories to tell his father after a big party.

To next year's Senior class treasurer, Anita Roy leaves a zorro whip to collect class dues.

Ralph Sawyer leaves to Tom Houlihan an automatic slip forger.

Michele Curran and Gloria Battles leave a television set for detention hall.

To John Ouellette, the senior girls leave a year's supply of friendship rings.

The Senior boys leave all sack dresses to Amy--to burn.

The class leaves five mailboxes to strap on the monitors' backs for love notes.

To Mr. Roy, we leave a lock and key so he will not lose any more books.

To Wallace Butt, we leave a bushel basket to carry his lunch in.

To Miss Lee, we leave a filing cabinet to keep all her papers in.

To Mr. Fecteau, we leave ten pounds of chalk for his math classes.

To Mr. Kozacka, a skeleton to keep his lonely skeleton company.

To the library, a year's subscription to Mad Magazine.

The Senior boys leave the field day jug to next year's winners--empty.

Given this day, Friday, June 6, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifty-eight.

GOD HELP THE CLASS OF 1958

CLASS PROPHECY

Twenty-five years after the graduation of the Class of 1958, Denis Francoeur, the famed producer of that great Broadway hit, "And God Created Chorus Girls", starring Gloria Battles and Michele Curran, is sitting in a quaint sidewalk cafe on the Champs Elysees. It is said that if one sits here long enough, he will meet someone he knows. This holds true in Denis's case because glancing up from his newspaper, which headlines the invention of a new atomic youth pill developed by the mad scientists, Barbara Davidson, Pat Rose, and Pat Donahue, he sees two of his former classmates, Roseanna Boivin and Jerry Brown, who are on their second honeymoon.

Denis invites them to join him for lunch. During lunch, Roseanna and Jerry fill Denis in on some of their old friends still living in Amesbury. During this conversation Denis learns that David Soule is still trying to get his plates back from David Kaplan and Philip Cliff, who are now the heads of the Motor Vehicle Department. He laughs when he learns that Alvin Mears, his old-time buddy, is now the truant officer, a very strict one at that, and he is quite surprised to learn that another old friend, John Grandmaison, is now janitor of Good Old A. H. S.

After lunch Denis phones his secretary, Pauline LaPlante, to tell her that he will not be in his office for the rest of the afternoon. Denis then agrees to show Roseanna and Jerry some of the more interesting sights of the city. Their first stop is the Eiffel Tower. They are amazed to find that Ronald Lamprey and Teenie Pike are painting the tower because of a shortage of tall Frenchmen that year.

Next they visit the Latin Quarter, where they find Carol Chasse and Bobby Brown painting. During their conversation with Carol and Bobby they learn that Ermanno Rossi is in town with his famous world-touring circus. In preference to a tour of the rest of the city they decide to visit the circus.

At the entrance to the circus grounds they scan a poster listing the major attractions which include Larry Gagne, the world-famous magician, and Annabelle Beckman, the famous trapeze artist. Listed as one of the side shows is Claire Page, who is practicing the art of fortune telling. Denis and his companions decide to see Claire in the hope that she can fill them in on the activities and whereabouts of some of their classmates. They enter the tent, and after a cordial greeting, Claire settles down with her crystal ball to see if she can help them.

The picture is at first snowy, and after adjusting a few fine-tuning knobs Claire discovers it is real snow. The crystal ball has focused on the Alps. A form appears which they recognize as Skip Watkins who, seeming to be hurt, is having difficulty struggling through the storm. Then through the snow can be seen Sally Woodsom's and Wayne Losano's combined rescue team of St. Bernards and pigeons.

After draining the dog's keg and with the aid of the pigeon, Skip easily makes his way to the Red Roof Ski Lodge where the owners, Johnny Brown and his wife, Mary Allison, help him into a room to which they bring Doctor Chet Marden and Nurse Mabel Brown. They attend his wound, which turns out to be a torn fingernail with complications.

Meanwhile in the lobby of the inn Eric Lifton and Bill Healey are very concerned about the loss of Skip from their U. S. Olympics team. They are also quite perturbed at the carelessness of Bill Anderson's Ski Patrol and the failure of Bob Bastien to design a brandy keg for Wayne's pigeon; the factors which led to the delay of the rescue.

At the same time outside of the Lodge the International Hockey Team, comprised of Carl Mitchell, Leo Dupere, and Bill Cote, is holding a vigorous practice. It is being watched by Jim Tirone, United States Ambassador to the Alps, and his wife, Pat Donovan, and also Donald Roy, now Park Commissioner of Amesbury, and his wife, the former Claire Ouellette. Donald Marble, Jim's private pilot, is, however, more interested in watching Connie Greco, Olympic swimmer for the Polar Bear Club, and the O'Keefe twins, Olympic skating champs, practice.

After watching the girls for a while, Don wanders inside and interrupts Yvette Viel in the midst of a rehearsal for that night's floor show at the Lodge.

MEANWHILE BACK IN THE UNITED STATES, CARL ORKNEY IS RUSHING OUT JARLATH LAFEY, ALIAS FI-FI, THE FABULOUS FEATHER DANCER.

After thanking Claire for the use of her crystal ball, Denis invites the honeymooners to his house for the evening. They are met at the door by Monsieur Bourgeois, the butler. Dinner is served them by the maid, Priscilla Lemaire.

The next morning after a pleasant visit, Roseanna and Jerry bid goodbye to Denis and board a boat for the United States which they are surprised to learn is owned by Bob Martin. They are equally surprised to learn that John Buzzell is the captain and Ralph Sawyer is the engineer.

As they pass the Rock of Gibraltar, they recognize a hermit on the summit to be Stanley Andrews, who has found a place where he can escape the clutching claws of that inferior creature called "woman".

The boat stops at Monte Carlo. Roseanna and Jerry having some time on their hands decide to see some of the sights. They enter a gambling casino where Frank Briggs, Ralph DiVito, and Skip Young are engaged in a floating poker game which has been going since before graduation. As they watch the game, they are served Peter Lamb's world-famous drink "Coke Rickey".

A bell rings and Mr. Ananian rushed onto the scene yelling, "Warning Bell, Warning Bell", and Roseanna and Jerry are escorted back to the ship. As the ship slowly pulls away they see Mitchie Drew riding porpoises off the shore of Monte Carlo.

After a pleasant trip the boat finally pulls into New York Harbor. Because of the strike of the longshoremen, led by Union Leader, George Merrill, the boat cannot dock. It is met by a tug boat owned and operated by Nancy Fay, which takes Roseanna and Jerry into New York.

At the Custom House they are double checked by inspectors, Janyce Smith and Betty Wise, because of an alarm out for a notorious smuggling ring headed by Pat Snow.

After leaving the Custom House, they hail a taxi which coincidentally is driven by Frank Kervin. As Roseanna and Jerry are looking for a place to dine, Frank takes them to Eddie Batal's new Syrian night club with his fabulous floor shows. Once inside they enjoy the meal prepared by Marilyn Reynolds, the chief chef, and also the floor show which consists of Pat Pellerin and the remains of the A. H. S. Rockettes, Sheila Quinn and Ann Houlihan.

After having a very pleasant evening they go to their hotel. Having secured a room, they follow the girl bellhop, Sandra Marshall, to the elevator operated by Robert Nadeau. They bump into Florence Mondalto, the chambermaid, who is just leaving their room.

The next morning in a tour of New York they visited Motorama, where they see Dudley Sargent's new plane, the Volksplane, which is being displayed by Eleanor Larrabee and Betty Donovan.

MEANWHILE, CARL ORKNEY IS RUSHING OUT ANITA WELLS, HOLLYWOOD ACTRESS.

On their return to the hotel Roseanna and Jerry meet Beverly Hunt, now a great Broadway actress, who is also staying at the hotel. That evening they join Bev for dinner. During dinner Jerry receives a telegram from his secretary, Jeanne Gosselin, saying he is badly needed at home. Jerry and Roseanna must return home immediately and so they bid Bev goodbye.

The following morning Bev goes to the United Nations Building to talk over with Secretary General, Barbara Smale, plans for a world goodwill tour. She has especially been invited by Mary Maloney, Ambassador to Tibet, Doris Bolduc, Ambassador to Somaliland, and Norma Roy, Ambassador to Zeppalania.

After making the necessary arrangements, Bev is flown to Hollywood on a plane piloted by Maynard Pearson with Brenda Titcomb as stewardess. In Hollywood, Bev picks up her troupe which consists of Pat Curran, hair stylist; Charlotte Felch, choreographer; Brenda George, stunt woman; Judy Brown, supporting actress; Judy Barlow, prompter; and Beverly Fitzgerald, designer.

After leaving Hollywood their first stop is Hawaii. During a Hawaiian Luau given in their honor, they are entertained by Hula dancers, Jeanne Fournier, Jeannie Kobel, and Judy Collins. Betty Ricker serves them delicious baked, stuffed pineapples which were grown by Carol Yeaton, famed pineapple grower.

From the warmth of Hawaii, Bev and her troupe travel to the high, cold plateaus of Tibet, where the world premiere of her show "Westward Ho the Women" is shown in a theatre owned by Pat MacNichol. Sally Romonoski is the ticket seller and Evelyn Smith is the usherette. Bev invites two old classmates, Anita Roy, who is on a tour trying to collect '58 class dues, and Frances Sullivan, a yak breeder, to the premiere.

While they are traveling in Somaliland, they are captured and gently persuaded to give a performance by the Great White Goddess of the Bonga-Bonga Tribe, Brenda Hall. A few of the choice members of the troupe are invited to stay for dinner while the rest of the troupe pushes forth through the great dark depths of the jungle.

We next find our heroines in Zeppalania, a newly-formed country after the destruction of the Communist Regime in Russia due to the propaganda of Sandra Toothaker. Bev and her troupe are met by Norma Roy's secretary, Janet Boudreau. After a successful performance and many good wishers, they are off to Puerto Rico.

In Puerto Rico, they find themselves in the midst of a revolution led by Carole Laxson against the governor, Ann Young. They find refuge at a sugar plantation owned by Mary Ferriera. Upon inspection of the plantation they find former classmates Carol Follansbee and Marjorie Corliss working as water girls. They learn that Virginia Boutin's weather station, which is located on the outskirts of the plantation, has been taken over for use as a reconnaissance station.

MEANWHILE, DUE TO LEGAL DIFFICULTIES, CARL ORKNEY IS IN SAUDI ARABIA WITH HOWARD FELCH AND 1001 HAREM GIRLS. CARL SEEMS TO HAVE PARTICULAR INTEREST IN LAURA MAE TEMPLE. IT SEEMS HE WANTS PRIVACY, SO WE'RE OFF AGAIN.

When a lull in the fighting comes, they hurriedly leave and head for their last stop, New Orleans. At New Orleans, Bev and her troupe board a steamboat owned by Theresa Walton. The skipper is Sandra Turcotte. The performance on the boat completes Bev's tour.

As they travel up the Mississippi, the boat passes Larry Knight sunk knee deep in the Mississippi mud as the sun slowly sinks in the west.

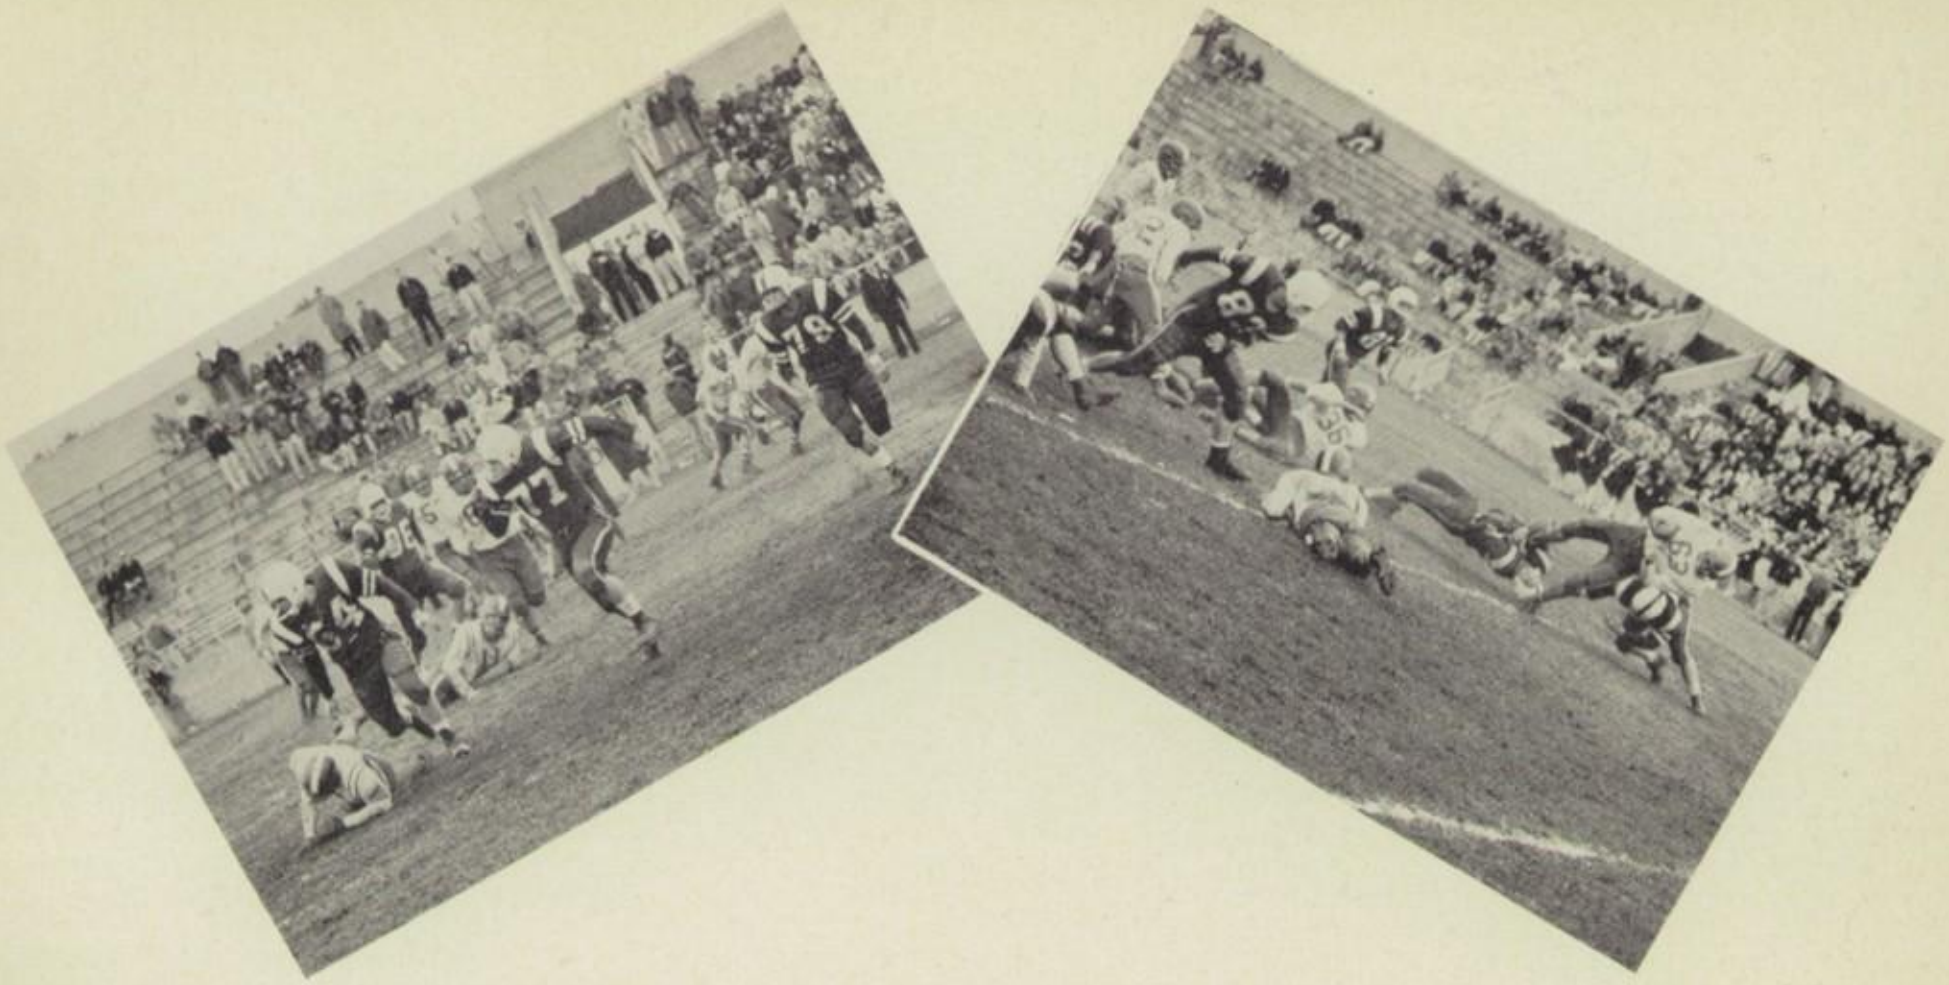
Oophs!

Co-Captains Buzzell and Andrews.



The 1957 season proved to be a disappointing one for staunch Amesbury High School fans. The Zabriskiemen won only three encounters while losing six, giving them an overall 333 1/3 percentage.

In the opening game of the season the Indians dropped a 28-14 decision to Marblehead and were blanked in their second game at the hands of Winthrop 14-0. The following weekend the Amesbury eleven found the winning way downing St. Johns Prep 13-6. In the next encounter the Indians made it two in a row by trouncing Portsmouth 25-6. Starting with Swampscott, State Class "B" Champions, Amesbury bumped up against three difficult foes on their schedule. They were drubbed by Swampscott 27-0, and followed that with losses to Lynn Classical 27-6, and Danvers 14-12. Another loss was a forfeit to Woburn. The last game on the schedule that remained was the traditional rivalry with the Clippers, and now the cry was, "Beat Newburyport"! On Thanksgiving morning the Indians, sporting new white pants, invaded the Porters' domain, and returned with the Colonel Wilson Trophy by nosing out Newburyport 6-0. Co-Captain Stan Andrews registered the only tally on a three-yard plunge, thus bringing to a successful climax an otherwise dismal season.

The freshman football team enjoyed a successful season with four wins, one loss, and one tie under Coach F. Kozacka.

Won 6 Lost 11

The 1958 Amesbury High School Basketball Team under Coach Don Zabriskie was not very successful this year winning only six games while losing eleven.

Despite the poor season the team's spirit was always high. Co-Captains Gordon Pike and Ralph DiVito were among top scorers in the conference. Wins over conference members, Marblehead 42-41, Danvers 46-32, and Woburn twice, 48-32 and 49-38 gave Amesbury fourth place in the final Northeastern Conference standings. Outside the Conference, wins over I.C.H.S. of Newburyport and Exeter High climaxed the win column.

The Indians lost three heartbreakers to Andover 46-45, Danvers 56-45, and Swampscott 47-45. As these scores show the games could have gone either way and the Indians fought right down to the final gun with tremendous spirit. Win or lose, we were proud of our team in every game.

This year besides Co-Captains Pike and DiVito other seniors were Robert Young, John Buzzell, and Ralph Sawyer. These five seniors carried the bulk of the work this year and will be missed come next year. However, next year, nine returning lettermen will form a strong nucleus for a winning team.

To the annual All-Star game the Indians sent Co-Captains Pike and DiVito, who acquitted themselves in good fashion. At the end of the season the lettermen elected David Lahait as captain-elect for the 1958-1959 season.

Help wanted!

Gilday moves in.

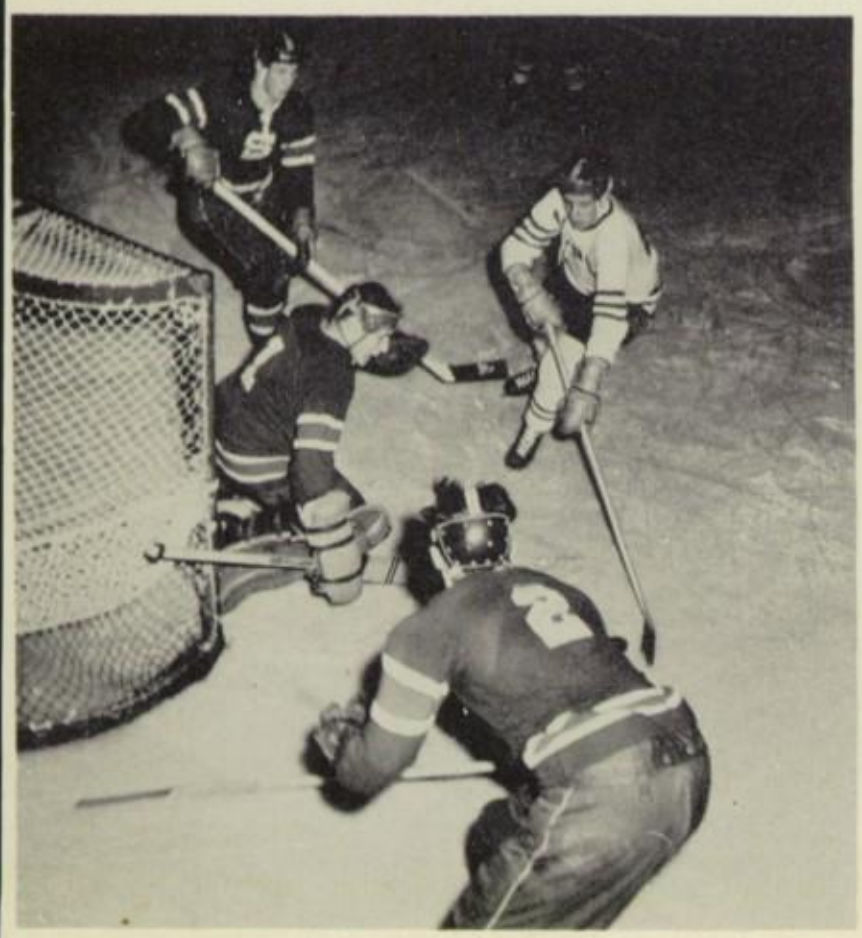
The 1958 edition of the Amesbury High School hockey team, under Coach Albert J. Roy, skated its way to a successful season by winning ten and tying but two out of fourteen games in league competition.

Led by hustling Captain Leo Dupere, all-scholastic center, the Indian team boasted some of the slickest talent on the North Shore.

In the first round of the North Shore playoffs the smooth-skating Indian pucksters blanked Peabody 5-0. In the second encounter the Roymen posted a win over a fast Winchester team. In the finals the Indians dropped a heartbreaker losing to Woburn 2-1 in the last minutes of play.

At the annual banquet Captain Leo Dupere announced center lineman Norman Parent as captain-elect for the 1958-59 season. The Most Valuable Player Award was presented to Captain Dupere. Awards also went to outstanding rookies, Jon Martin and John Gilday.

Flip it in!



All the way.

The Amesbury High School Baseball Team, with Coach Arthur Joubert in office, was not too successful this year, winning but five games out of fifteen. Co-Captains Ralph DiVito and Leo Dupere, Carl Orkney, and Gordon Pike were four seniors from which Coach Joubert molded his team.

Although the season's record was not outstanding the Indians played high-class baseball, and four of their losses were by the narrowest of margins, one run. To be sure, the stellar mound performances of Orkney and Pike along with the timely hitting and sharp fielding of Co-Captains Dupere and DiVito will be sorely missed, but with a crop of very promising underclassmen coming up we can hope for a winning season.

Captain Andrews

The 1958 Track Team here at Amesbury High is one that will not easily be forgotten. The Indians, under Coach Fecteau, completed its season without a loss, thereby extending its winning streak in the Northeastern Conference competition over a two-year period. The powerful Indian squad seemed overflowing with material as individual records were broken and unusually one-sided scores were racked up. In support of this last statement, witness the Indian 77-0 win over Ipswich, and the 83-3 victory over Newburyport.

In the Northeastern Conference Meet held at Danvers, the Indians topped the field. In a state contest held at White Stadium in Boston, Amesbury gave a good account of itself; competing in Class "D" against some 27 other schools, the Indians finished a respectable sixth.

At an end-of-the-season banquet 18 lettermen were awarded jackets. And selected to head another potential championship team for next year were David Lahait and Louis Bunnell.

The form is the thing.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The varsity girls' basketball team, under the guidance of Coach Gloria Gendron, was again an integral part of the sports curriculum. Despite the lack of experience, Coach Gendron turned out a well-balanced team.

From the season's opener to the concluding game the girls displayed a fiery brand of basketball which drew praise from opponents, and, in particular, the coach of undefeated Perley High. She singled out Amesbury High as Perley's stiffest competitor. In what many fans considered the best game of the year, the girls defeated arch rival, Newburyport.

There are six seniors leaving this year. Captain Sally Woodsom, high scorer for the team with 87 points, commanded a hook shot which resulted in a number of valuable points. Pat Pellerin, whose ability to move the ball fast with 67 points, gave her the honor of second highest scorer. Ann Young, always finding the openings and outfaking her guard, sank many valuable points. Pat Snow proved herself a dead shot from any spot on the floor. Ann Houlihan and Claire Ouellette, two tricky guards robbed the opposing teams of many important points especially in the Newburyport game. Ann proved that the hand is faster than the eye, and Claire was always sneaking up and intercepting passes.

Sally shows her style.

Managers V. Milliken, D. Levesque, Coach G. Gendron, Junior Varsity Captain S. Quinn, Varsity Captain S. Woodsom.
